I. INTRODUCTION

1. Pursuant to Article 41 of the Law¹ and Rule 57 of the Rules,² the Specialist Prosecutor's Office ('SPO') makes the following submissions in support of the need for the continued detention of the Accused Kadri Veseli ('Veseli'). The Pre-Trial Judge, the Court of Appeals, and this Panel have repeatedly held that Veseli's detention is justified on multiple bases, that no conditions short of detention in the Kosovo Specialist Chambers' ('KSC') detention facilities would be sufficient to mitigate the risks, and that the detention period—taking all relevant circumstances into account—is reasonable. Since the most recent determination of this Panel on 15 February 2023,³ there has been no change in circumstances that merits deviating from that determination. To the contrary, significant recent developments, in conjunction with the continued progression of trial, decisively confirm both the necessity and reasonableness of detention.

II. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

2. The relevant procedural history regarding Veseli's detention is referenced in the Panel's most recent detention decision as having been set out extensively in previous decisions.⁴

3. On 3 April 2023, the trial commenced.⁵

4. On 23 May 2024, testimony of the sixty-fifth (65th) witness concluded.

III. SUBMISSIONS

5. The relevant applicable law is set out in Article 41, and Rules 56 and 57, and has been laid out extensively in earlier decisions.⁶

6. Since the most recent detention decision, there have been no developments that diminish the factors supporting the need and reasonableness of detention. Indeed, the continued progression of trial through the testimony of the sixty-fifth (65th) witness and other developments in the case decisively confirm the necessity of detention.

A. GROUNDED SUSPICION

7. Article 41(6)(a) requires a grounded suspicion that the detained person has committed a crime within the jurisdiction of the KSC.⁷ There remains a grounded suspicion that Veseli has done so.⁸ The Confirmation Decision determined that there is a suspicion that Veseli is liable for crimes against humanity and war crimes as identified in Articles 13, 14, and 16,⁹ to a standard that exceeds the 'grounded suspicion' required for detention.¹⁰ The Pre-Trial Judge later also confirmed amendments to the Indictment that added further, similar charges against Veseli.¹¹ Nothing has occurred since the confirmation decisions that would detract from this determination. Indeed, it has been repeatedly confirmed that there remains a well-grounded suspicion that Veseli has committed crimes within the KSC's jurisdiction.¹²

B. DETENTION IS JUSTIFIED UNDER ALL ARTICLE 41(6)(B) FACTORS

8. The Court of Appeals has been clear that, once a grounded suspicion under Article 41(6)(a) is identified, an articulable basis of a single ground under Article 41(6)(b) is sufficient to support detention.¹³ The three grounds under Article 41(6)(b) justifying detention are: (i) risk of flight; (ii) potential obstruction; and (iii) risk of additional crimes.¹⁴ The applicable standard is articulable grounds that support a 'belief' that there is a risk of one of the Article 41(6)(b) grounds occurring.¹⁵ The 'belief' test denotes 'an acceptance of the possibility, not the inevitability, of a future occurrence'.¹⁶ In other words, the standard to be applied is less than certainty, but more than a mere possibility of a risk materialising.¹⁷ The Panel has noted that 'articulable' in this context means specified in detail by reference to the relevant information or evidence.¹⁸ In considering whether an accused should be detained or released, the relevant chamber must consider whether measures other than detention would sufficiently reduce the risk of the Article 41(6)(b) factors occurring.¹⁹

i. Risk of Flight (Article 41(6)(b)(i))

9. Veseli is aware of the serious confirmed charges against him, the possible lengthy prison sentence that may result therefrom, and he is constantly gaining more knowledge about the evidence in relation to those crimes.²⁰ The progression of trial takes the risk of flight to an even higher level, as Veseli now sees the evidence against him steadily entering the record. In addition, Veseli is now aware of the powerful evidence of recent conduct that has necessitated modification of his conditions of detention. This may also undermine prior findings that Veseli cooperated with relevant authorities.²¹ All of the above must be taken into consideration in relation to prior findings concerning Veseli's means to travel.²² The combination of all of these factors elevates Veseli's risk of flight to a 'sufficiently real possibility'.²³

ii. Risk of Obstruction of Proceedings (Article 41(6)(b)(ii))

10. Veseli continues to present a risk of obstructing proceedings. This Panel has recently concluded that the risk that Veseli will obstruct the progress of KSC proceedings continues to exist.²⁴

11. The Panel reiterated its previous determination that: (i) Veseli has the ability to give instructions to an individual interacting with the KSC and, in doing so, he directly intervened in a matter involving the KSC; (ii) Veseli continues to play a significant role in Kosovo on the basis of the previous positions he occupied, which would continue to allow him to, for instance, access information or elicit the support of others; (iii) while Veseli was at the head of the Kosovo Intelligence Service ('SHIK'), members of SHIK were involved in witness interference; and (iv) the advancement of the trial proceedings provides an opportunity for Veseli to gain insight into the evidence underpinning the serious charges against him.²⁵

12. Further, there is a persistent climate of intimidation of witnesses and interference with criminal proceedings against former KLA members in Kosovo, which the Court of Appeals has agreed is a relevant 'contextual consideration'.²⁶ Similar findings were made in the Mustafa Trial Judgment²⁷ and the Gucati and Haradinaj Appeal Judgment.²⁸ The Case

7 Trial Panel considered that ‘witness protection has continued to be a live and critical issue in Kosovo’,²⁹ and credited the testimony of defence expert Robert Reid, who remarked that, in over 20 years in the field, he had never seen witness intimidation on the level that exists in Kosovo.³⁰

13. Moreover, Veseli has received information concerning the witnesses the SPO intends to call in upcoming evidentiary blocks and will continue to receive such information every three months,³¹ and the risk of obstruction increases as the remaining delayed disclosure witnesses have their identities lifted in the course of trial.

14. In this regard, the Panel has previously noted that the disclosure of such highly sensitive information to the Veseli Defence necessarily results in it becoming known to a broader range of persons, including the Accused.³² This continues to amplify the risk of sensitive information pertaining to witnesses becoming known to members of the public before the witnesses in question give evidence,³³ which, in the context of the release of an Accused, would not be conducive to the effective protection of witnesses who are yet to testify.³⁴

15. Indeed, this risk has already been realized, as this Panel concluded that the standard conditions of detention were insufficient to mitigate the risk of Veseli and other Accused engaging in conduct that could interfere with the proceedings and/or present a risk to the safety and security of witnesses.³⁵ To address these risks, the Panel ordered significant modifications to detention conditions.³⁶ More specifically, the Panel has noted that the records on which it based that decision further support the suggestion of a risk that Veseli could engage in the divulgence of confidential information to unprivileged third parties.³⁷

16. All of the above demonstrates that the risk of obstruction is not only well-founded, but that Veseli presents an extraordinarily heightened risk of obstructing KSC proceedings to such an extent that even the standard communications restrictions and monitoring of the Detention Centre were insufficient to mitigate.

iii. Risk of Criminal Offences (Article 41(6)(b)(iii))

17. Veseli continues to present a risk of committing further crimes. This Panel has recently concluded that the risk that Veseli will commit further crimes continues to exist.³⁸

18. The Panel recalled its previous finding that the risk of Veseli committing further crimes continues to exist, opined that the same factors that were taken into account in relation to the risk of obstruction are relevant to the analysis of the risk of committing further crimes.³⁹

19. Moreover, the crimes against humanity and war crimes that Veseli is charged with are extremely serious, they are alleged to have been committed in cooperation with others, and the Confirmation Decision describes Veseli's personal participation in the commission of crimes.

20. The Panel highlighted the fact that the trial in this case has started, that the identities of sensitive witnesses have been disclosed to Veseli, and that any risk of the further commission of crimes must be avoided.⁴⁰

21. This Panel's previous conclusion that the continuing disclosure of sensitive information presented an unacceptable risk for the commission of further crimes⁴¹ applies even more forcefully given the recent relevant findings regarding Veseli's divulgence of confidential information and the continued progression of trial.

C. NO MODALITIES OF CONDITIONAL RELEASE ARE ABLE TO SUFFICIENTLY MITIGATE THE RISKS

22. The relevant risks, including those regarding flight, can only be effectively managed at the KSC's detention facilities. This Panel has recently concluded that the risks of obstructing the proceedings and committing further offences can only be effectively managed at the KSC's detention facilities.⁴²

23. Regarding the risks of obstructing the progress of KSC proceedings and committing further crimes, the Panel found that none of the formerly proposed conditions, nor any additional measures foreseen in Article 41(12) could sufficiently mitigate the existing risks.⁴³

⁴⁰ Fifteenth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F02237, para.26.

⁴¹ Fifteenth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F02237, paras 26-27.

⁴³ Fifteenth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F02237, para.31.

24. Further, the Panel found that the measures in place at the KSC detention facilities, viewed as a whole, provide robust assurances against unmonitored visits and communications with family members and pre-approved visitors with a view to minimising the risks of obstruction and commission of further crimes.⁴⁴ Moreover, they offer a controlled environment where a potential breach of confidentiality could be more easily identified and/or prevented.⁴⁵

25. The Panel has concluded that it is only through the communication monitoring framework applicable at the KSC detention facilities that Veseli's communications can be restricted in a manner that would sufficiently mitigate the risks of obstruction and commission of further crimes.⁴⁶

26. Nothing has occurred since the previous determination warranting a different assessment on conditions, either generally or for a discrete period of time. To the contrary, Veseli's conduct now represents such an extraordinarily heightened risk that even the standard communications restrictions and monitoring of the Detention Centre are insufficient to mitigate it, necessitating the imposition of an even more strict regime by this Panel. Therefore, especially in conjunction with the continuation of trial and attendant further disclosure, the underlying risks are higher than ever.

D. DETENTION REMAINS PROPORTIONAL

27. Detention remains proportional. At the last detention review, this Panel found that Veseli's detention for a further two months was necessary and reasonable in the specific circumstances of the case.⁴⁷

⁴⁴ Fifteenth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F02237, para.31.

⁴⁵ Fifteenth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F02237, para.31.

⁴⁷ Fifteenth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F02237, para.36.

28. In that regard, the Panel recalled that the reasonableness of an accused's continued detention must be assessed on the facts of each case and according to its special features, which, in this case, include: (i) Veseli is charged with ten counts of serious international crimes in which he is alleged to play a significant role; (ii) if convicted, Veseli could face a lengthy sentence; (iii) the risks under Article 46(b)(ii) and (iii) cannot be mitigated by any conditions; (iv) the case against Veseli is complex; and (v) the fact that the trial is underway, demonstrating reasonable progression of proceedings.⁴⁸

29. Here, taking these same, and additional, factors into consideration, Veseli's detention continues to be reasonable, especially in light of the continuing reasonable progression of proceedings.⁴⁹

IV. CONCLUSION

30. For the foregoing reasons, the SPO respectfully submits that Veseli should remain detained.
