I. INTRODUCTION

1. Pursuant to Article 41 of the Law¹ and Rule 57 of the Rules,² the Specialist Prosecutor's Office ('SPO') makes the following submissions in support of the need for the continued detention of the Accused Jakup Krasniqi ('Krasniqi'). The Pre-Trial Judge, the Court of Appeals, and this Panel have repeatedly held that Krasniqi's detention is justified on multiple bases, that no conditions short of detention in the Kosovo Specialist Chambers' ('KSC') detention facilities would be sufficient to mitigate the risks, and that the detention period—taking all relevant circumstances into account—is reasonable. Since the most recent determination of this Panel on 13 March 2025,³ there has been no change in circumstances that merits deviating from that determination. Indeed, the continued progression of trial and related developments further buttress the necessity and reasonableness of detention.

2. To the extent the present filing overlaps with matters raised in Krasniqi's separate request for provisional release,⁴ detention should also be maintained for the reasons set out in the SPO's response opposing that request.⁵

II. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

3. As noted by the Panel, the relevant procedural history regarding Krasniqi's detention has been set out extensively in previous decisions.⁶

4. On 3 April 2023, the trial commenced.⁷

5. On 27 March 2025, testimony of the one-hundred-twenty-fifth (125th) witness concluded.

6. On 15 April 2025, the SPO filed its notice of the closing of its case pursuant to Rule 129.⁸

III. SUBMISSIONS

7. The relevant applicable law is set out in Article 41, and Rules 56 and 57, and has been laid out extensively in earlier decisions.⁹

8. Since the most recent detention decision, there have been no new facts or circumstances that diminish the factors supporting the need and reasonableness of detention. To the contrary, the end of the presentation of the SPO's case, increases the risk of obstruction and commission of further crimes, and warrant the Panel's reconsideration of the existence of the risk of flight.

A. GROUNDED SUSPICION

9. Article 41(6)(a) requires a grounded suspicion that the detained person has committed a crime within the jurisdiction of the KSC.¹⁰ There remains a grounded suspicion that Krasniqi has done so.¹¹ The Confirmation Decision determined that there is a suspicion that Krasniqi is liable for crimes against humanity and war crimes as identified in Articles 13, 14, and 16,¹² to a standard that exceeds the ‘grounded suspicion’ required for detention.¹³ The Pre-Trial Judge later also confirmed amendments to the Indictment that added further, similar charges against Krasniqi.¹⁴ It has been repeatedly confirmed that there remains a well-grounded suspicion that Krasniqi has committed crimes within the KSC’s jurisdiction.¹⁵ Nothing has occurred since the confirmation decisions that would detract from this determination. Indeed, the well-grounded suspicion has increased with the evidence of all SPO witnesses are now included in the trial record.

B. DETENTION IS JUSTIFIED UNDER ALL ARTICLE 41(6)(B) FACTORS

10. The Court of Appeals has been clear that, once a grounded suspicion under Article 41(6)(a) is identified, an articulable basis of a single ground under Article 41(6)(b) is sufficient to support detention.¹⁶ The three grounds under Article 41(6)(b) justifying detention are: (i) risk of flight; (ii) potential obstruction; and (iii) risk of additional crimes.¹⁷ The applicable standard is articulable grounds that support a 'belief' that there is a risk of one of the Article 41(6)(b) grounds occurring.¹⁸ The 'belief' test denotes 'an acceptance of the possibility, not the inevitability, of a future occurrence'.¹⁹ In other words, the standard to be applied is less than certainty, but more than a mere possibility of a risk materialising.²⁰ The Panel has noted that 'articulable' in this context means specified in detail by reference to the relevant information or evidence.²¹ In considering whether an accused should be detained or released, the relevant panel must consider whether measures other than detention would sufficiently reduce the risk of the Article 41(6)(b) factors occurring.²²

i. Risk of Flight (Article 41(6)(b)(i))

11. Krasniqi is aware of the serious confirmed charges against him, the possible lengthy prison sentence that may result therefrom, and now has full knowledge of the evidence in relation to those crimes.²³ The possible imposition of such a sentence becomes more concrete with the expeditious progression of trial and the conclusion of the presentation of the SPO's case. Krasniqi has the means and influence over a network of support necessary to abscond from the proceedings.²⁴ All of the above must be taken into consideration in relation to prior findings concerning Krasniqi's means to travel.²⁵ Therefore, the combination of all of these factors elevates Krasniqi's risk of flight to a 'sufficiently real possibility'.²⁶

ii. Risk of Obstruction of Proceedings (Article 41(6)(b)(ii))

12. Krasniqi continues to present a risk of obstructing proceedings, consistent with this Panel's recent conclusions.²⁷ The conclusion of the SPO case does not obviate this risk, and witnesses remain at risk of obstruction even after their testimony.²⁸

²⁸ In this regard, taking harmful action against a person 'with the intent to retaliate for providing truthful information relating to the commission or possible commission of any criminal offense to police, an authorized investigator, a prosecutor or a judge' is a punishable offence under Article 15(2) of the Law, as read with Article 388 of the 2019 Kosovo Criminal Code (renumbered from Article 396 of the 2012 Kosovo Criminal Code). For examples of such conduct from international courts, at the Special Court for Sierra Leone, five witnesses were subject to unlawful interference from a purported representative of the defence team, after the parties closed their cases and prior to delivery of a trial judgment, to induce them to recant their testimony against Charles Taylor. SCSL, Independent Counsel v. Eric Koi Senessie, SCSL-2011-01-T, Judgment in Contempt Proceedings, 16 August 2012. Similarly, and over a sustained period between 2015-2018 following a final appeal judgment against Mr Augustin Ndirabatware, the accused and a group of his associates engaged in a highly organised scheme intended to manipulate and improperly influence five witnesses heard by the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda with the end goal of procuring recantations of their prior testimony. IRMCT, Prosecutor v. Nzabonimpa et al., MICT-18-116-T, Judgment, 25 June 2021. Similarly, in the SCSL case of Bangura et al., two convicted persons and two of their associates engaged in an initiative to procure the recantation of witness testimony by way of a monetary bribe, with the aim of providing an avenue to seek review (See, SCSL, Independent Counsel v. Bangura et al., SCSL-2011-02-T, Judgment in Contempt Proceedings, 25 September 2012). In a recent IRMCT review proceeding, the Appeals Chamber found that financial transactions of Witness HH raised concerns as to the integrity of his purported recantation, such that Mr Ntakirutimana's original convictions were maintained (See, IRMCT, Prosecutor v. Gérard Ntakirutimana, MICT-12-17-R, Review Judgment, 22 November 2024, paras 57, 62).

13. The Panel has previously determined that there is a risk of Krasniqi obstructing KSC proceedings based on, inter alia: (i) his position of influence which, combined with the willingness and ability to obtain access to confidential information inaccessible to the public, allows for the reasonable conclusion that it is possible for Krasniqi to secure access to confidential information related to matters to which he is currently connected; (ii) his public statements criticising the KSC; and (iii) the content of a 24 April 2020 Facebook post targeting 'collaborators'.²⁹ Furthermore, the Court of Appeals has confirmed that: (i) there are indications that Krasniqi is, at least, predisposed to witness intimidation, for reasons earlier stated; and (ii) in assessing whether there is a risk that Krasniqi will obstruct the proceedings if released, it was not unreasonable to take into account, among other factors, Krasniqi's public statements criticising the KSC or the Facebook post of 24 April 2020.³⁰ The Panel has emphasised that the passage of time since prior findings on obstruction does not, in and of itself, affect findings previously made regarding the concrete risks of obstruction.³¹

14. There is a persistent climate of intimidation of witnesses and interference in criminal proceedings against former KLA members in Kosovo, which the Court of Appeals has agreed is a relevant 'contextual consideration'.³² Similar findings were made in the

Mustafa Trial Judgment³³ and the Gucati and Haradinaj Appeal Judgment.³⁴ The Trial Panel in Gucati and Haradinaj considered that ‘witness protection has continued to be a live and critical issue in Kosovo’,³⁵ and credited the testimony of defence expert Robert Reid, who remarked that, in over 20 years in the field, he had never seen witness intimidation on the level that exists in Kosovo.³⁶ This climate of witness intimidation continues to persist, as noted by the Shala Trial Panel³⁷ and as seen in media reports following testimony in public session.³⁸

15. Moreover, Krasniqi now is aware of the identity of all of the SPO witnesses and their evidence. The close of the SPO’s case does not reduce the risk of obstruction, but increases it, as the Accused now have knowledge of the full scope of the case against them.³⁹ As noted by the Panel, the risk of interference for the purposes of attempting to secure recantations and/or indirectly dissuade future witnesses from testifying could obstruct the progress of the proceedings.⁴⁰ Further, there is a possibility that witnesses may need to be recalled, making them susceptible to interference attempts.⁴¹

16. In this regard, the Panel has previously noted that the disclosure of such highly sensitive information to the Krasniqi Defence necessarily results in it becoming known to a broader range of persons, including the Accused.⁴² This continues to amplify the risk of sensitive information pertaining to witnesses becoming known to members of the public before the witnesses in question give evidence,⁴³ which, in the context of the release of an Accused, would not be conducive to the effective protection of witnesses.⁴⁴

17. As held by the Trial Panel in Gucati and Haradinaj, ‘the mere fact that the Accused is entitled to disclosure of relevant material does not mean that the Panel ought to ignore the risks that come with such disclosure, especially in the context of conditional release.’⁴⁵

iii. Risk of Criminal Offences (Article 41(6)(b)(iii))

18. Krasniqi continues to present a risk of committing further crimes, consistent with this Panel’s recent conclusions.⁴⁶

19. The Panel recalled its previous finding that the risk of Krasniqi committing further crimes continues to exist, opined that the same factors that were taken into account in relation to the risk of obstruction are relevant to the analysis of the risk of committing further crimes, and concluded that no new circumstances have arisen since the last detention review that would justify a different finding in respect of this matter.⁴⁷

20. Moreover, the crimes against humanity and war crimes that Krasniqi is charged with are extremely serious, they are alleged to have been committed in cooperation with others, and the Confirmation Decision describes Krasniqi's personal participation in the commission of crimes.

21. The Panel has highlighted the fact that the trial in this case has started, and that any risk of the further commission of crimes must be avoided.⁴⁸ This Panel's previous conclusion that the continuing disclosure of sensitive information presented an unacceptable risk for the commission of further crimes applies even more forcefully given the conclusion of the SPO's case. Indeed, the fact that Krasniqi now has specific insight into the overall case and evidence against him, furthers the risk that he may commit additional crimes, including against witnesses who have provided or could provide evidence in the case and/or appear before this Panel at future stages of the proceedings.⁴⁹

C. NO MODALITIES OF CONDITIONAL RELEASE ARE ABLE TO SUFFICIENTLY MITIGATE THE RISKS

22. The relevant risks can only be effectively managed at the KSC's detention facilities, as recently re-affirmed by the Panel.⁵⁰

23. Regarding the risks of obstructing the progress of KSC proceedings and committing further crimes, the Panel found that none of the formerly proposed conditions, nor any additional measures foreseen in Article 41(12) could sufficiently mitigate the existing risks.⁵¹

⁴⁸ Fifteenth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F02313, para.27.

⁴⁹ See e.g. Decision on the Twelfth Review of Detention of Pjetër Shala, KSC-BC-2020-04/F00596, 20 July 2023, para.25.

⁵¹ Twentieth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F03005, para.33.

24. Further, the Panel found that the measures in place at the KSC detention facilities, viewed as a whole, provide robust assurances against unmonitored visits and communications with family members and pre-approved visitors with a view to minimising the risks of obstruction and commission of further crimes.⁵² Moreover, they offer a controlled environment where a potential breach of confidentiality could be more easily identified and/or prevented.⁵³

25. The Panel has concluded that it is only through the communication monitoring framework applicable at the KSC detention facilities that Krasniqi's communications can be restricted in a manner that would sufficiently mitigate the risks of obstruction and commission of further crimes.⁵⁴

26. Nothing has occurred since the previous determination warranting a different assessment on conditions, either generally or for a discrete period of time; rather, the continuation of trial make the underlying risks higher than ever.

D. DETENTION REMAINS PROPORTIONAL

27. Detention remains proportional. At the last detention review, this Panel found that Krasniqi's detention for a further two months was necessary and reasonable in the specific circumstances of the case.⁵⁵

28. In that regard, the Panel recalled that the reasonableness of an accused's continued detention must be assessed on the facts of each case and according to its special features, which, in this case, include: (i) that Krasniqi is charged with ten counts of serious international crimes in which he is alleged to play a significant role; (ii) that, if convicted,

Krasniqi could face a lengthy sentence; (iii) the continuing risks under Article 41(6)(b)(ii)-(iii) cannot be sufficiently mitigated by the application of reasonable alternative measures; (iv) the case against Krasniqi is complex; (v) the climate of witness intimidation; and (vi) the fact that the trial is ongoing.⁵⁶

29. Here, taking these same, and additional, factors into consideration, Krasniqi's detention continues to be reasonable, especially in light of the continuing reasonable progression of proceedings.⁵⁷

IV. CONCLUSION

30. For the foregoing reasons, Krasniqi should remain detained.
