I. INTRODUCTION

1. Pursuant to Article 41 of the Law¹ and Rule 57 of the Rules,² the Specialist Prosecutor's Office ('SPO') makes the following submissions in support of the need for the continued detention of the Accused Jakup Krasniqi ('Krasniqi'). The Pre-Trial Judge, the Court of Appeals, and this Panel have repeatedly held that Krasniqi's detention is justified on multiple bases, that no conditions short of detention in the Kosovo Specialist Chambers ('KSC') detention facilities would be sufficient to mitigate the risks, and that the detention period—taking all relevant circumstances into account—is reasonable. Since the most recent determination of this Panel on 16 March 2026,³ there has been no change in circumstances that merits deviating from it. To the contrary, the continued progression of trial and related developments reinforce the necessity and reasonableness of detention.

II. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

2. The relevant procedural history regarding Krasniqi's detention has been set out extensively in previous decisions.⁴

3. On 3 April 2023, the trial commenced.⁵

4. On 15 April 2025, the SPO filed its notice of the closing of its case pursuant to Rule 129.⁶

⁶ Prosecution notice pursuant to Rule 129, KSC-BC-2020-06/F03121, 15 April 2025.

5. On 12 June 2025, the Defence filed a joint Defence motion pursuant to Rule 130.⁷ On 7 July 2025, the SPO filed its response.⁸ On 16 July 2025, the Trial Panel issued an oral decision dismissing the Defence's Rule 130 motion.⁹ Victims' Counsel's witnesses were heard on 16-17 July 2025.

6. The Defence cases commenced on 15 September 2025,¹⁰ and closed on 2 December 2025.¹¹

7. On 19 December 2025, the Panel closed the evidentiary proceedings.¹² The Parties' closing statements and responses were heard between 9-18 February 2026. On 18 February 2026, the Panel declared the case closed.¹³

III. SUBMISSIONS

8. The relevant applicable law is set out in Article 41, and Rules 56 and 57, and has been laid out extensively in earlier decisions.¹⁴

9. Since the most recent decision, there have been no developments that diminish the factors supporting the need for and reasonableness of detention.

A. GROUNDED SUSPICION

10. Article 41(6)(a) requires a grounded suspicion that the detained person has committed a crime within the jurisdiction of the KSC.¹⁵ There remains a grounded suspicion that Krasniqi has done so.¹⁶ The Confirmation Decision determined there is a suspicion that Krasniqi is liable for crimes against humanity and war crimes as identified in Articles 13, 14, and 16,¹⁷ to a standard that exceeds the ‘grounded suspicion’ required for detention.¹⁸ The Pre-Trial Judge later also confirmed amendments to the Indictment that added further, similar charges against Krasniqi.¹⁹ Nothing has occurred since the confirmation decisions that would detract from this determination. Indeed, the Panel has repeatedly confirmed that there remains a well-grounded suspicion that Krasniqi has committed crimes within the KSC’s jurisdiction.²⁰

B. DETENTION IS JUSTIFIED UNDER ALL ARTICLE 41(6)(B) FACTORS

11. The Court of Appeals has been clear that, once a grounded suspicion under Article 41(6)(a) is identified, an articulable basis of a single ground under Article 41(6)(b) is sufficient to justify detention.²¹ The three grounds under Article 41(6)(b) justifying detention are: (i) risk of flight; (ii) potential obstruction; and (iii) risk of additional crimes.²² The applicable standard is articulable grounds that support a ‘belief’ that there is a risk of one of the Article 41(6)(b) grounds occurring.²³ The ‘belief’ test denotes ‘an acceptance of the possibility, not the inevitability, of a future occurrence’.²⁴ In other words, the standard to be applied is less than certainty, but more than a mere possibility of a risk materialising.²⁵ The Panel has noted that ‘articulable’ in this context means specified in detail by reference to the relevant information or evidence.²⁶ In considering whether an accused should be detained or released, the relevant panel must consider whether measures other than detention would sufficiently reduce the risk of the Article 41(6)(b) factors occurring.²⁷

i. Risk of Flight (Article 41(6)(b)(i))

12. Krasniqi is aware of the serious confirmed charges against him, the possible lengthy prison sentence that may result therefrom, and now has full knowledge of the case against him and the evidence in relation to those crimes. The possible imposition of such a sentence becomes more concrete with the closure of the case and ongoing deliberations. Krasniqi has the means and influence over a network of support necessary to abscond from the proceedings. All of the above must be taken into consideration in relation to prior findings concerning Krasniqi’s means to travel. The SPO maintains that the combination of these factors elevates Krasniqi’s risk of flight to a sufficiently real possibility.

ii. Risk of Obstruction of Proceedings (Article 41(6)(b)(ii))

13. Krasniqi continues to present a risk of obstructing proceedings, consistent with this Panel's recent conclusions.²⁸ The closure of the case does not obviate this risk,²⁹ as Krasniqi now has knowledge of the full scope of the case against him and witnesses remain at risk of obstruction even after their testimony.³⁰ As noted by the Panel, the risk of interference also includes: (i) any attempt to retaliate against witnesses who have testified in these proceedings; (ii) attempts to incentivise a witness to recant; and (iii) attempts to interfere with witnesses in parallel proceedings.³¹ As confirmed by the Appeals Panel, these factors alone support the existence of a risk of obstruction.³²

³⁰ Twenty-fifth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F03698, paras 34-35. In this regard, taking harmful action against a person 'with the intent to retaliate for providing truthful information relating to the commission or possible commission of any criminal offense to police, an authorized investigator, a prosecutor or a judge' is a punishable offence under Article 15(2) of the Law, as read with Article 388 of the 2019 Kosovo Criminal Code (renumbered from Article 396 of the 2012 Kosovo Criminal Code). For examples of such conduct from international courts, at the Special Court for Sierra Leone, five witnesses were subject to unlawful interference from a purported representative of the defence team, after the parties closed their cases and prior to delivery of a trial judgment, to induce them to recant their testimony against Charles Taylor. See SCSL, Independent Counsel v. Eric Koi Senessie, SCSL-2011-01-T, Judgment in Contempt Proceedings, 16 August 2012. Similarly, and over a sustained period between 2015-2018 following a final appeal judgment against Mr Augustin Ngirabatware, the accused and a group of his associates engaged in a highly organised scheme intended to manipulate and improperly influence five witnesses heard by the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda with the end goal of procuring recantations of their prior testimony. See IRMCT, Prosecutor v. Nzabonimpa et al., MICT-18-116-T, Judgment, 25 June 2021. Similarly, in the SCSL case of Bangura et al., two convicted persons and two of their associates engaged in an initiative to procure the recantation of witness testimony by way of a monetary bribe, with the aim of providing an avenue to seek review. See SCSL, Independent Counsel v. Bangura et al., SCSL-2011-02-T, Judgment in Contempt Proceedings, 25 September 2012. In a recent IRMCT review proceeding, the Appeals Chamber found that financial transactions of Witness HH raised concerns as to the integrity of his purported recantation, such that Mr Ntakirutimana's original convictions were maintained. See IRMCT, Prosecutor v. Ntakirutimana, MICT-12-17-R, Review Judgment, 22 November 2024, paras 57, 62.

³¹ Twenty-fifth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F03698, paras 35-36, although noting that the risk of interference with witnesses in parallel proceedings is now limited.

³² Appeals Panel Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/IA035/F00005, para.46, fn.129.

14. The Panel has previously noted that the disclosure of highly sensitive information to the Krasniqi Defence necessarily results in it becoming known to a broader range of persons, including the Accused.³³ This amplifies the risk of sensitive information pertaining to witnesses becoming known to members of the public, which, in the context of the release of an accused, would not be conducive to the effective protection of witnesses.³⁴

15. The Panel has previously determined that there is a risk of Krasniqi obstructing KSC proceedings based on, inter alia: (i) his position of influence which, combined with the willingness and ability to obtain access to confidential information inaccessible to the public, allows for the reasonable conclusion that it is possible for Krasniqi to secure access to confidential information related to matters to which he is currently connected; (ii) his public statements criticising the KSC; and (iii) the content of a 24 April 2020 Facebook post targeting ‘collaborators’.³⁵ Furthermore, the Court of Appeals has confirmed: (i) there are indications that Krasniqi is, at least, predisposed to witness intimidation, for reasons earlier stated; and (ii) in assessing whether there is a risk that Krasniqi will obstruct the proceedings if released, it was not unreasonable to take into account, among other factors, Krasniqi’s public statements criticising the KSC or the Facebook post of 24 April 2020.³⁶ The passage of time since prior findings on obstruction does not, in and of itself, affect such findings regarding the concrete risks of obstruction.³⁷

16. Additionally, the Court of Appeals has agreed the persistent climate of intimidation of witnesses and interference with criminal proceedings against former KLA members in Kosovo is a relevant ‘contextual consideration’.³⁸ Similar findings were made in the Mustafa Trial Judgment³⁹ and the Gucati and Haradinaj Appeal Judgment.⁴⁰ The Trial Panel in Gucati and Haradinaj considered that ‘witness protection has continued to be a live and critical issue in Kosovo’,⁴¹ and credited the testimony of defence expert Robert Reid, who remarked that, in over 20 years in the field, he had never seen witness intimidation on the level that exists in Kosovo.⁴² As the Panel has recently reaffirmed, this climate of witness intimidation continues to persist, including well after testimony.⁴³ The closure of the case and impending trial judgment has heightened public scrutiny of the case and increased pressure on witnesses.⁴⁴ The inflammatory and personal nature of such attacks, and the comments they provoke, could endanger the privacy, well-being, and security of witnesses.

17. All of the above demonstrates that the risk of obstruction remains well-founded.

iii. Risk of Criminal Offences (Article 41(6)(b)(iii))

18. Krasniqi continues to present a risk of committing further crimes, consistent with this Panel's recent conclusions.⁴⁵

19. In the most recent detention decision, the Panel recalled its previous finding that the risk of Krasniqi committing further crimes continues to exist, opined that the same factors that were taken into account in relation to the risk of obstruction are relevant to the analysis of the risk of committing further crimes, and concluded that no new circumstances have arisen since the last detention review that would justify a different finding.⁴⁶

20. Moreover, the crimes against humanity and war crimes that Krasniqi is charged with are extremely serious, they are alleged to have been committed in cooperation with others, and the Confirmation Decision describes Krasniqi's personal participation in the commission of crimes.

21. This Panel's previous conclusion that the continuing disclosure of sensitive information presents an unacceptable risk for the commission of further crimes applies even more forcefully given the closure of the case. That Krasniqi now has specific insight into the overall case and evidence against him, furthers the risk that he may commit additional crimes, including against witnesses.

⁴⁶ Twenty-fifth Detention Decision, KSC-BC-2020-06/F03698, para.42.

C. NO MODALITIES OF CONDITIONAL RELEASE ARE ABLE TO SUFFICIENTLY MITIGATE THE RISKS

22. The relevant risks can only be effectively managed at the KSC's detention facilities, as the Panel recently re-affirmed.⁴⁷

23. The Panel reiterated that none of the proposed conditions, nor any additional measures foreseen in Article 41(12), could sufficiently mitigate the existing risks of obstructing the progress of KSC proceedings and committing further crimes.⁴⁸

24. Further, the Panel reiterated that the measures in place at the KSC detention facilities, viewed as a whole, provide robust assurances against unmonitored visits and communications with family members and pre-approved visitors with a view to minimising the risks of obstruction and commission of further crimes.⁴⁹ Moreover, they offer a controlled environment where a potential breach of confidentiality could be more easily identified and/or prevented.⁵⁰

25. The Panel has consistently concluded that it is only through the communication monitoring framework applicable at the KSC detention facilities that Krasniqi's communications can be restricted in a manner that would sufficiently mitigate the risks of obstruction and commission of further crimes.⁵¹

26. Nothing has occurred since the previous determination warranting a different assessment on conditions, either generally or for a discrete period of time. Therefore, especially at such a critical phase of trial, there remain no alternatives to detention capable of adequately mitigating the salient risks.

D. DETENTION REMAINS PROPORTIONAL

27. Detention remains proportional. At the last detention review, this Panel found that Krasniqi's detention for a further two months was necessary and reasonable in the specific circumstances of the case.⁵²

28. The Panel recalled that the reasonableness of an accused's continued detention must be assessed on the facts of each case and according to its special features, which, in this case, include that: (i) Krasniqi is charged with ten counts of serious international crimes in which he is alleged to play a significant role; (ii) if convicted, Krasniqi could face a lengthy sentence; (iii) the continuing risks under Article 41(6)(b)(ii)-(iii) cannot be sufficiently mitigated by the application of reasonable alternative measures; (iv) the case against Krasniqi is complex; and (v) the climate of witness intimidation.⁵³ In the most recent ruling, the Panel held that Krasniqi's personal and family circumstances do not render his continued detention unreasonable, especially in light of the special features of the case.⁵⁴

29. Here, taking these same, and additional, factors into consideration, Krasniqi's detention continues to be reasonable, especially in light of the continuing expeditious progression of proceedings.

IV. CONCLUSION

30. For the foregoing reasons, Krasniqi should remain detained.
